Hackfest 2024 Social Engineering CTF Call For Crew

We're excited to be running the SECTF again at Hackfest, and as always, we need a dedicated crew to get this up and running. Every year we get great media coverage - and a bit of controversy to boot. If you're a natural born shit disturber, then this call for crew is for you!

VOIP Guru
We need people who can set up and operate a VOIP system to make outgoing calls, broadcast them to the soundproof booth and the audience, and troubleshoot issues as they arise.

Judges
Bilingual judges are needed to help score the calls. Each contestant will be making calls to companies, trying to elicit answers to a list of "flag" questions. This is a very dynamic contest, and judging it requires good listening skills. You may be required to arbitrate some points if challenged by a contestant. It's a fast moving but fun gig.

Crowd Wranglers/Goons
We also need a few people to assist with crowd control, wrangling media/contestants, and just general duties. It's not glamorous, but it's an important part of the contest.

If you can help in any of these positions, please let Patrick (patrick@hackfest.ca) or Shane (shane@hackfest.ca) know. We'll be giving T-shirts to all crew members and probably copious amounts of beer as well.

Come help make this another fun and successful event!
